"Dignity Is What We Use To Conceal Our Ignorance"

is Elbert Hubbard's definition of the word dignity.
Unquestionably Elbert is correct, and every thinking person will agree with him.
Think of the people with dignity and count those having it naturally. He who has it naturally, combined with ability, is a great success in life. Those with assumed dignity are—well, they are understood and discounted by the public.
We've no dignity, natural or assumed, and if its use was attempted by the public would discount it. Let the public estimate us correctly; give us credit for a thorough knowledge of the photograph business, for doing work at reasonable prices. Years of experience in this business exclusively entitles us to it.

WIFE-BEATING IN WESTERLY

Means Fine of $25 and Costs—Offence Due to Drink—District Nursing System Explained—Social Evening for Gymnasium Class—Fire at Smith Quarry—Lincoln and Flag Day Plans.

Miss Winifred L. Fitzpatrick, assistant superintendent of the District Nursing association of Providence, gave an interesting address on the subject of district nursing Thursday afternoon in the conference room of the Memorial building, under the auspices of the Westerly Nursing society. Miss Fitzpatrick told how the district nursing system was conducted in Providence, explaining in detail the scope and usefulness of the work, and illustrated how the system could be modified to apply to a place the size of Westerly, where at the start the whole town could be classed as a single district. Miss Fitzpatrick suggested plans of early action that would result in success from the start, and that this success would continue by persistent effort on the part of the local society, provided proper support was given the laudable object by the people of Westerly.

Mrs. Charles Perry, president of the local society, presided at the meeting and introduced the speaker. During what had already been done in the way of organization and preparation for the introduction of the district nursing system, the medical fraternity was represented by Drs. Lewis, Hillard, Smith, Morgan, Savage, Scanlon, Payne and Webster.

Charles Sidell was arraigned before Clerk Edward G. Cundall in the Third district court, Thursday, charged with striking and abusing his wife. He was adjudged guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $25 and costs. This he could not do, and was committed to the county jail to work out the fine and costs. Sidell is a practical stationary engineer, has been a resident of Westerly many years and has never before been in legal trouble. His present offense is due to excessive drinking.

Michael Higgins has purchased from Oliver L. Wilcox the fine residential property in West Broad street now occupied by the Wilcox family. At an early date Mr. Higgins and family will remove from their home in Liberty street to the more desirable location in West Broad street. Mr. Higgins is a successful business man, proprietor of the West Broad drug store, and owns considerable real estate in Westerly and Connecticut.

The people of Westerly as well as those of Charlestown are interested in the act presented in the state senate providing for the widening of 35,000 feet for widening and deepening the breachway and strengthening the breakwater at Quonochontaug. The act provides for the annual course the filling of the breachway, and unless the work asked for in the act is done, it is said that the fine beach and pond at that place will be ruined. The act also provides for the widening and deepening of the breachway, and unless the work asked for in the act is done, it is said that the fine beach and pond at that place will be ruined. The act also provides for the widening and deepening of the breachway, and unless the work asked for in the act is done, it is said that the fine beach and pond at that place will be ruined.

The ladies' gymnasium classes that meet weekly in the gymnasium of the Memorial building, under the direction of Miss Lillian E. Morse, omitted the regular meet Thursday evening and substituted a social and dance in the gymnasium. The athletic young women invited their friends, and the event was a decided social success. Light refreshments were served.

The arrangements for the Lincoln centenary exercises are completed, and everything possible has been done for the convenience of the large audience that will be assembled in the armory this (Friday) evening. The members of both Grand Army posts will assemble at their quarters in the Memorial building and will march to the state house to the music of the Westerly band, the Fifth company, Coast Artillery corps, acting as escort to the civil war veterans and those who served in the Spanish-American war.

In all the schools of Westerly there will be special patriotic exercises today (Friday) in celebration of Flag day, so designated by the state of Rhode Island, and observed under Grand Army auspices. A civil war veteran has been detailed to each school as patriotic instructor for the occasion, and the observance is from plans outlined by the state board of education. It will be a dual observance of the Lincoln centenary and Flag day.

Patrick Casey had a narrow escape from losing his right hand Thursday while at work in the C. B. Cottrell plant. He was at the trip hammer when a 600 pound hammer dropped on his hand, and how the hand escaped being mashed to pulp is bordering on the miraculous. The hand is crushed and some small bones broken, but there will be no amputation, nor

NEW HAVEN ROAD PLAN.

To Devote Attention to Obtaining Adequate Entrances into New York City.

It is stated from New Haven that now that the perpetual contract between the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company and the New York Central company in regard to New York city terminals has been signed, the attention of the New York company will be turned more definitely than heretofore to securing new entrances into New York city. The Hell Gate bridge project connecting with the Pennsylvania terminal in New York city is one of them, and will be of great importance for general passenger business and for through business, for which latter the Pennsylvania terminal will be in the nature of a great way station. This plan, however, has the disadvantage of being roundabout for commutation business. For the latter as well as for much of the general passenger business the plan of the New Haven company is the utilization of the New York and Westchester charter for a line southward from New Rochelle to West Farms, beyond which it will use the Harlem tracks, and ultimately look for entrance into New York city by means of a new subway.

Under this plan the fast growing region of the Bronx would be served as distinguished from the eastward and shore region of the Bronx now tapped by the Harlem lines, which is thinly settled. Northward the ultimate plan contemplates an extension through Westchester county, towards the city of Danbury, reaching a line of value and attractive suburban region and shortening the New Haven company's route to the Berkshires.

FRENCH HORN CONCERTS

To Be Played in New Haven by Famous Musician.

Herman Duttschke, the noted French horn player of the New York Philharmonic orchestra, who is to play the French horn in the French horn concert for French horn, at the fourth symphony concert in Woolsey hall, New Haven, on Tuesday afternoon, February 16, has, singularly enough, never played the work in the east. Last spring Mr. Duttschke journeyed clear out to Chicago to play it with the Chicago orchestra, now under the direction of Frederick Stock, and back in 1902 the same musician played the concerto under the direction of Theodore Thomas himself.

New Haven is fortunate in hearing a concerto for French horn, that most revolutionary and intractable of instruments, for the first time played by one of the greatest masters of the French horn in the world. The composer of Salome wrote this concerto when he was at almost the beginning of his career as a composer for his father, Franz Strauss, a horn player of note. The work is in three movements and is a happy sort of piece, from the jaunty hunting call at the opening to the buoyant round with which the concert closes.

In between there is a romance-like composition which shows the horn at its mellowest and best.

CONNECTICUT HEIRS

Trying to Prove Claim to Perkins Estate in Missouri.

The investigation that is going on throughout the state with reference to the estate of the late Henry D. Perkins, an aged Missouri planter, who died some time since, leaving property worth some $250,000 and no will, no apparent heirs (Perkins was unmarried) and no trace of his family history other than he was born in Connecticut, made some progress this week.

It was learned that about a half-century ago there was a Henry D. Perkins who went west to seek his fortune from New Canaan, in Fairfield county, under circumstances similar to those related by the investigator of the case, J. B. Sizer, at New Haven, recently. This Mr. Perkins was a relative of the Beers family in this state and his near relatives are dead. Of his third cousin living, there are known: Judge A. B. Beers of Bridgeport, Mrs. D. H. Clark of New Haven, William Henry Beers of Ridgefield, Conn., and Henry J. Beers of Oil City, Pa.

It is probable that an effort will be made by relatives of the New Canaan Perkins to communicate with Mr. Sizer and furnish him with the information that will be requisite to establish the fact as to whether their relative was the Missouri planter or not.
